22046 - SECamb [REDACTED] Electrical issues report

Hi [REDACTED] and [REDACTED], please find attached independent report prepared by Delta Green into electrical issues being experienced at SECamb [REDACTED] site. I assume you will digest and then want a meeting with Delta Green to discuss the conclusions and next steps. I assume you will decide if you want Sunninghill at the meeting.

Hi [REDACTED], yes I noted [REDACTED] email.

As I understand the generator was certified at commissioning stage and we will have a certificate/ sign off.

Having noted the contents of the report, it would appear Futuretech comments are mostly 'design' related, and no doubt if we obtained a different contractor they would also produce a different design. The issues for me are the reliability, effectiveness and safety rather than the design.

I will pick up the issue shortly with [REDACTED],

Subject: FW: 2927.19 - SECamb [REDACTED] - Generator Report

Morning [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]. I thought I would link you into this email trail as there is still no clarification about whether the challenge from Future Tech is valid about the generator. Projects are pulling away from the discussion and not continuing with it on any meetings and it is clear from the email below that the emphasis is on Estates and IT to take responsibility.

With the generators going to IT I would not imagine Estates are to be held accountable if something goes wrong but as we were handed the building they will probably refer to this. I just wanted to confirm that neither Estates nor CHA were involved in looking at the generator at handover as we are not the specialists. Ridge were on site and who we were expecting to confirm there were no issues at handover.

I just think Estates need to be on top of the information on the situation as it would be a major impact if the generator did not work when needed to support the services.

Kind regards

After OR yesterday in regard to the generator I spoke to [REDACTED], who has confirmed that this is no longer considered part of the project, and from our point of view the generator has been delivered to spec and our scope which the report from Ridge attached confirms.

Going forward this should be managed between estates and IT as they are overseeing Future tech.

Will detail out a proper update for you on Tues but just sending this as gives some context. Neither [REDACTED] nor I were aware we were to own the problem until this came in last week. We have both been supporting the project team in resolving but it seems they're treating it now as delivered to spec, which I'd argue it hasn't been.

Hi [REDACTED]

Ridge are saying they will struggle to get to site next week but could do a Teams call. They have suggested having a teams call to go through the report line-by-line and then determining if a site visit is required after that. Would that be acceptable?

Ridges initial comments on the report are as follows:

The generator came out a lot less than 150 if I recall before. He's pulled this together in a few minutes and overestimated.

They caveated that they're not including sound attenuation or additional fuel tanks (which may not be required). I added 25k for contingency in case.

Hi [REDACTED],

Yes, FutureTech are attending for us on the 9th for standard maintenance. We will be in touch after, assuming all is well, with a date for a blackout test.

We have no concerns with you [REDACTED]. All we ask is that we are informed as to where the keys will be located.

Thanks,

Subject: [REDACTED] Generator

Hi [REDACTED],

We have some planned work to the generator at [REDACTED] on the 09 October, however we don't have keys for it.

We had been arranging a new lock and spare keys to be provided via Estates - however there is a long lead time on this.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED].

I understand that responsibility for the generator has moved to IT (for some reason - no comms issued about this?)

[REDACTED] - we are happy to arrange this, if IT are agreeable?

Please advise, thanks

Hi [REDACTED]

Please see the email below. Are you able to advise from an estates perspective? Has the backup been sorted or if not, what is the planned schedule?

Critically, are there any plans to turn the power off at the site next week? We have an end of [REDACTED] that is in the process of being decommissioned and IT have advised that any power outages risks killing it entirely. It currently holds circa 10m records so we need to mitigate this over the next week or so at all costs whilst the data is moved to the central servers at HQ.

Thanks

Hi [REDACTED],

We have some IT work taking place on Monday 11th December.

We must transfer data from a server here at [REDACTED] to an encrypted memory stick to then be taken to Crawley, I am aware that there may be planned work taking place on the back up generator next week? The transfer of data takes around 8-10 hours and will commence between 9am and 10 am on the 11th this will involve IT staff travelling to [REDACTED] to undertake the work. If we were to lose power during that time the data of patient records would be corrupted or totally lost.

If the work on the generator has already taken place that is great, if it hasn't, please advise scheduled works date as we would need to request it does not take place during this time.

Many thanks

Subject: Catch Up on Friday

Morning [REDACTED]

When we meet on Friday (without [REDACTED]) I'd like to discuss

- [REDACTED]
- Security cameras in Nexus House (need a sign as they are in operation – think this might fall to Estates and/or Security but we need to progress it) –

- A company to take forward the remedials work on the [REDACTED] generator (there are 17 faults) – IT manage our Generators now. I would expect their contractor FutureTech to carry out any remedial works. I am obtaining a quote from independent specialist to provide a survey of the system. But IT should instruct on the remedial work – we may be able to offset some of the cost against the Westridge retention fee. Okay – It have been waiting on this clarity.

I spoke with [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] yesterday down at Lewes AS on this issue and they advised the recent generator black out test was successful.

This is what comes to my mind and you might already have this all in hand.

Thanks and catch up tomorrow.

The issues raised are contained in the original report that was produced. In addition to those issues, the external hook to the generator is not fit for purpose so if that can be looked at on Monday, that would be good.

I can confirm that we have availability on Tuesday 19 March 2024 at 1.00pm. Ridge and Partners are also available at this time. Will you forward a Teams link?

Ridge will be on site on Monday with my colleague [REDACTED] to undertake the inspections at the end of the Defect Liability Period. If you have any specific details on the issues with the generator, it would be useful for these to be provided ahead of Monday in case there is anything they can look at during the inspection.

I am back from annual leave and happy to discuss this in more detail.

The UPS that you have at [REDACTED] would be very beneficial utilised elsewhere, I strongly advise keeping it. We can look at decom and storage fees while we decide what site to utilise it on, with regards to the Ac and Jacarta we can help, I will need attend site with the relevant team to complete a site survey and quote when could we gain access to do this?

Hi all,

Yesterday we conducted the pre-winter checks of the generators and [REDACTED] supporting [REDACTED]. This included a black site test whereby mains power to the site was disconnected, resulting in the need for the [REDACTED] and generators to kick in to continue to provision power.

[REDACTED] is configured with two generators which should both start and share the load between them in case either fails. During this test, one of the two generators [REDACTED]. The cause has been identified as [REDACTED] and a repair [REDACTED] due to an added complexity that the [REDACTED]

The black site test was otherwise successful - power was not lost and [REDACTED] generator kicked in and provisioned power. However, I wanted you all to be sighted that we are currently running with less resilience than usual and if the working generator [REDACTED]

This is however no different to [REDACTED], which was only provisioned with a single generator. So the risk is therefore similar.

[REDACTED] or I will update you when the situation has changed. We are expecting that once a repair is complete, an additional black site test will be conducted pre-Christmas to verify a complete and functional system.

Best wishes,

Hi ██████████,

I asked estates to install carbon monoxide alarms [REDACTED]. I understood that was done but that they were going to come back and complete a more adequate install [REDACTED] for a longer-term solution. I haven't heard anything back so not sure where they are at with this. I've cc'd [REDACTED] for info.

We do need to install [REDACTED] and obtain planning permission to do this to resolve the issue. However, there are numerous issues with the generator and I put forward a business case to solve these. That was put on hold pending a discussion between me and [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] (CFO). At this time, I haven't been given sufficient authority to resolve the problem.

I am meeting with our new exec director for IT later today and will be raising it then.

"TO BRING IN A 3RD PARTY TO MANAGE MONITORING WILL INTRODUCE COMPLEXITIES INTO THE SUPPORT OF TRUST SYSTEMS."

I'd replace with:

It is not possible to bring in another party to install and configure monitoring of the generators at each site as this would be outside of the maintenance and support contracts already in place with FutureTech. This would result in additional charges by FutureTech to assess completed installs and understand how they operate and during the interim period, the generators would be unsupported.

In addition, monitoring equipment installed would not be maintained or supported by FutureTech but via an alternative contractor. This would result in unnecessary complexities in the relationship between both suppliers and additional costs with further support contracts being required.

Hello ██████████

I have drafted a review of the Future-Tech contracts – see attached.

We have 5 listed agreements on our Database, though most just have "scope of works" associated and a single tender waiver.

Generally, the Future-Tech contracts are managed by I.T. (or Estates/I.T./Procurement in one case – this may be the one you are after?)

I have tried to embed the files we have in our Database, within the word document. Apologies for the size. I have also added a bit of a background summary.

It is quite draft, and there maybe more information that I.T. holds.

Could you let me know if you have any difficulty opening files. I am available tomorrow midday onwards and Friday to run through this if needed.

Good morning,

I hope you are well. Please see attached Monthly Report. I have entered the dates that I have confirmed for the Maintenance Visits with contractors for the Make Ready Centre's and will populate the Requested and TBC dates as soon as possible. I am waiting for Third Party Contractors to get back to me confirming dates that we have suggested. Apologies in the delay in getting this to you.

Kind regards,

Hi [REDACTED],

Just wanted to update you that we are aware the generator failed again over the weekend. Prior to this, it had suffered an outage which they believed was caused by [REDACTED] as a result of [REDACTED] [REDACTED], which they fixed. There is no obvious cause to the latest outage. We have asked FT to investigate further and [REDACTED] will update you when we know more, as clearly we need to investigate and test again until we can prove the unit functions long-term, else it is pointless having it.

Hi [REDACTED],

That is unlikely. The maintenance events will be treated separately by the supplier. They will be out to assess what is required to resolve these issues and quote. Once we have the quotes, we can then evaluate what the next steps will be. As mentioned, concerns around generators are on the risk register.

There are numerous concerns about generators across the Trust, including the [REDACTED] sites and some of our exec are aware of the issues. We are working with the suppliers to get an appropriate plan and quotes to resolve all concerns.

Hi [REDACTED],

Servicing and maintenance of the generators is now with FutureTech, our datacentre provided. So we act as the conduit for this.

We are aware that several sites have [REDACTED] issue, which has been logged on the Trust risk register with a high priority.

It isn't a fault, to our knowledge, but a long-standing design issue, which we have simply picked up as part of the handover.

Fuelling of the generators remains with Estates. The first maintenance visit is planned in September/October for all generators.

Best wishes,

Hi [REDACTED],

[REDACTED] is looking to establish what happened re the engineer that attended on Friday. We imagine that this engineer is from the Rydon's side. It doesn't make a huge amount of difference which company attends at this stage as the first maintenance under the new contract hasn't yet taken place. A follow up will take place.

There is a handover of generator maintenance which is in progress and a new reporting process will be announced shortly – though we are trying to keep this still through Rydon for end users to minimise any impact.

Generator testing will consist of 2 tests per year and 2 blackout tests per year which is in line with our datacentre specialists recommendations. These will be spread out through the year. We are expecting a schedule later this week. We will be working in conjunction with estates on these.

Thanks

Would you be able to tell me what the servicing/testing arrangements are for the Generator at ██████████ please? I have been informed that the IT Department have taken this responsibility over from the Estates team? Locally there are no records of testing and we haven't been made aware of any changes until we have asked Estates to rectify an issue on it.

Our generator is currently in fault and will not power the building in the event of a power cut. I have tried Estates/Rydons and they have pointed me in your direction as they have no responsibility for them now?

Thank you

I have copied in the team in case I have misrepresented anything.

Situation	Following 2 site visits by independent contractors (Rydons and FutureTech), both have raised significant concerns on the structure and the design of the generator, with the main concerns cited; [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] has pulled together a paper based on a verbal update from Future Tech and [REDACTED] has forward an email she received from Rydons (both attached). DSL are aware of the concerns raised and were on site this evening (22.06.23) to review the issue concerning [REDACTED]. They were however unable to fix the problem. They are due back on site tomorrow. They have advised that the [REDACTED] is insignificant and does not pose any health and safety risk. It later failed. They attended and found a minor design issue with [REDACTED]. They left it running a while and all looked OK. Was left on generator supply over the weekend and it subsequently failed again.

FT attended and found no active fault but could see in the logs of the generator systems that it suffered a generic error. [REDACTED] will be liaising in my absence to ensure they've investigated root cause.

Hi [REDACTED]

Future Tech went out last night and checked the generator and it is OK. There is no [REDACTED] so the frequent short drops in power today [REDACTED] has disrupted services due to the loss of IT and phones. It also has been setting off the fire alarm.

I have spoken to [REDACTED] just now and he agreed the power should be turned off and the site runs on generator until the issues outside are resolved. Rydon were on their way to site anyway to reset the fire alarm so they will switch off the power off.

I am trying to contact Fleet to ensure they check the fuel.

I have asked the OM on site to keep everyone updated on the issues with UKPN so that we know when to switch the power back on.

Subject: Generator at [REDACTED]

Hi [REDACTED],

I am informed the [REDACTED] is running on generators following a power cut earlier and likely to be in situ until 6pm this evening – apparently there was a local power cut yesterday as well.

Typically our generators are c [REDACTED] – the site seems to be operating ok, just wondering if we need to inform Futuretech to double check everything is ok, fuel levels etc

Kind regards

Hi [REDACTED],

I've attached the generator business case that went forward. Note that the cost is roughly half what is expected as the assessments and operations manual creations need to take place before remediations can take effect. The consultancy includes all the design elements, it is just missing the actual fix. It is feasible to cut this back depending on our ask and FutureTech are happy to have further meetings with us to look at what we should or should not consider in the mix.

Thanks,

We took a paper on generators to EMB. The Trust is looking not to incur costs but to get our agent to pick up these costs.

Thanks.

I've been looking at the generator paper that [REDACTED] has shared with me.

I have spoken with [REDACTED] and I understand there are no costs [REDACTED] which will 'hit' in FY23/24 so I don't understand why we are showing these costs in the business case as such (extract below). It's also a lot of money to spend in the last 6 weeks of the financial year (which isn't going to happen). Why has this been presented as such as all of the generator costs will 'hit' in FY24/25? Please advise urgently on Monday morning as I was hoping to get this paper off my desk today (Sunday).

Thanks.

Good afternoon [redacted]

I have attached the approved plans for the generator outbuilding and the decision notice with the condition.

You will see from the drawings that the generator outbuilding does not actually have a [redacted], so technically, there is no planning permission for one. However, subject to the length and location of the [redacted], it can be dealt with by either a Non Material Amendment to the approved plans (NMA) or a Minor Material Amendment to the approved plans (MMA). Please see attached for a summary table of the differences between the applications (downloaded from the Gov.uk website) and the fee calculator- the fees are the same for either type of application, and there will need to be a set of forms completed and a covering letter submitted with the amended drawings for the Council to consider.

It would be worth having a discussion with the Council before submitting- I would need to see a drawing of the proposed works before offering a view as to which type of application would be most appropriate, but I suspect in the context of the development overall, a NMA should be appropriate.

Please feel free to call to discuss if necessary.

Hi [REDACTED],

Understood, thanks. I'd be supportive of all sites not having any prep prior to a cold start. The rooms that they refer to as hubs have probably been mis-sold. [REDACTED]

That said, even at [REDACTED], I understand we can get the power back on well within [REDACTED] in the event the generators failed to start and this would evidence an issue for us.

[REDACTED] is going to organise [REDACTED] across the estate for some of the more important end points on the premises.

Hi [REDACTED], I agree with you and this is noted for any future black tests. This is outside of our standard practice for doing Black tests as you have correctly pointed out.

Typically, in live critical facilities black tests, before we proceed on the day, we check that the critical equipment is ready to proceed with the test. This usually includes ensuring maintenance is up to date without any reported issues. This is to de-risk the test and have confidence with the systems to ensure a positive outcome, rather than a test to destruction approach. If we find a problem, its standard practice for us to err on the side of caution.

To provide some context, we made a decision based upon the fact there were emergency calls ongoing and were working in conjunction with the local managers to initiate the test at an appropriate moment, as there was [REDACTED]. After the Black Test [REDACTED] and a decision will have to be made if further protection is required.

On our pre start checks, the Generator [REDACTED] was found to be [REDACTED] prior to the test. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]. In order to limit [REDACTED] we did [REDACTED] on the generator. [REDACTED]. The generator was [REDACTED]. We followed this with the Black test with everything in normal standby mode. Everything [REDACTED] successfully.

It should also be noted at [REDACTED], we also have a generator fault, [REDACTED] however we proceeded with the black test without any pre start. This was successful although the fault still remains and can be seen on the BMS panel. Similarly [REDACTED], and again a decision will have to be made if further protection is required or [REDACTED] can be utilised.

Moving forward we shall implement the Black tests, without any prestart etc. and report our findings. I'm happy to discuss this further with you and amend our RAMs and or procedures accordingly to suit your requirements.

Kind regards,

Good Afternoon,

We sent a quotation in October regarding generator works for [REDACTED] Secamb.

Please see the quotation attached.

At the site today, the generator was very cold so they had to start and run it to see if it would function when the black test was carried out.

These works need to be carried out ASAP.

Please issue a purchase order for the works and I can arrange a date to get this carried out, hopefully before Christmas.

Our contractor, FutureTech, is responsible for the maintenance and testing of the generators at [REDACTED] sites. In February, a business case was submitted to address [REDACTED] with the generator at [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] at [REDACTED]. However, the business case was not supported, and [REDACTED] instructed a pause on further actions until additional discussions could take place. I have yet to receive feedback from [REDACTED] despite follow-ups. With [REDACTED] now serving as the Executive Lead for Digital, we are reviewing the situation to determine how we can proceed.

The [REDACTED] generator is of particular concern as [REDACTED]. While the generator is operational, any outage exceeding an hour would [REDACTED].

At [REDACTED], we have two generators installed per FutureTech's recommendation, acknowledging that generators can fail to start or fail during operation. This was evidenced in November 2023 when only one of the two generators started during a test, and rectifying the fault took nearly two weeks and with 2 instances of a generator failing while in operation at [REDACTED] during 2023. Cost-cutting measures at [REDACTED] led to the installation of a single generator, against recommendations. Evaluating the installation of a second generator was part of the aforementioned business case to resolve this issue. Notably, the [REDACTED] generator has failed to start on two occasions during tests. Thankfully, these failures occurred during testing, so the [REDACTED] were not at risk of power failure, as mains power remained available, but the system was none the less non-operational while services were live without any persons being aware until testing took place.

[REDACTED] support at [REDACTED]. If a single generator fails to start at [REDACTED], operations can continue due to the presence of two generators. However, if both generators fail, no backup generator can be connected. At [REDACTED], the failure of the single generator would be identified within [REDACTED] of a power outage. While operations would not cease immediately [REDACTED]

I believe it is crucial to have the capability to connect a backup generator. This is currently impossible at [REDACTED] sites due to a lack of connections, and while theoretically feasible at [REDACTED], practical challenges exist. The connection point at [REDACTED] is situated above the tyre store, and FutureTech has indicated that lifting the cables and connecting them safely is nearly impossible due to their weight and the connection's location. Additionally, the [REDACTED] backup connection [REDACTED] backup generator. This undermines [REDACTED] and was caused again through cost-cutting. Furthermore, securing a backup generator requires a pre-existing contract. FutureTech is willing to support us with this, given their existing maintenance and support roles, but they cannot proceed without complete operations and maintenance manuals. [REDACTED] incorrect at [REDACTED], an issue highlighted in the business case for rectification.

In summary, it is clear that establishing a backup generator contract is essential. However, several preliminary issues need to be resolved before this can be achieved.

Not sure how such a thing would be priced but I guess companies who supply backup generators are well used to such requests?

Hi [REDACTED],

The decision to move the generator repair and maintenance from Estates to IT was made by [REDACTED] and [REDACTED], which I did not support at the time. As I understand a PO was raised to Futuretech c£90k for the contract – [REDACTED] will be able to confirm.

We removed the cost from our FM budget.

I am in meetings tomorrow for most of the day so apologies in advance for the late night email.

Thanks for letting me know that you are content that IT look after our generators. I would have preferred it if Estates had retained this responsibility (but recognise that this was a decision made before I arrived in post which I am willing to honour). The budget currently for this work is in Estates. Can you please let me know what the budget is and when this will be transferred across to IT as there is a quotation that will turn into an invoice shortly so IT will need the funds to pay the invoice(s). If the costs are not separately identifiable then I will put forward a methodology to calculate the budget.

Thanks.

Hi ██████████,

Very happy to include and was working on it with ██████████. However, before ██████████ left, FutureTech (the new provider) asked for the O+Ms for the non-included generators, so they could provide a suitable quote. ██████████ wrote back and said she had sent them to ██████████.

Unfortunately, ██████████ is off long-term sick, ██████████ has gone and we still need a copy to send forward. Could you get them for the missing generators so we can arrange a final quote?

The budget for these will still be from your side, which ██████████ was aware of. Now you have taken over from ██████████, it would be good to get you into the meetings with FutureTech, as although we are holding the contract, we did recognise that these affect you as much as us, so it should be a joint process.

Hope this works for you.

As you're aware I have just taken over from ██████████ today, and I'm just trying to get up to speed with bits and pieces. I was wondering looking at this email, if it would be possible for you to take on this additional generator at ██████████ as well as the existing portfolio?

To me it makes sense to be part of critical systems rather than for us to source a contractor just for the one unit, and I don't think many contractors would be interested. In addition I believe the ppm contract has already been sent out to Rydon removing any maintenance liability of their schedules.

If you could let me know either way.

Hi [REDACTED]

I had an email this morning concerning the generator at [REDACTED] from [REDACTED]. A Rydon engineer informed [REDACTED] that the generator is no longer in automatic mode, so would be needed to be started manually in the event of a power failure, which is my understanding of what [REDACTED] said.

I responded to [REDACTED] saying that the generators are now under IT's control and not estates. [REDACTED] emailed [REDACTED] concerning this. [REDACTED] replied stating that the [REDACTED] one is not covered, at this time, under the new contract. Email trail attached

The above are the locations currently covered by the agreement with whoever they have employed under contract.

I have a feeling that if [REDACTED] reports this to Rydon they will come back and say that generators are not their responsibility and push it back to estates.

I am going to ask [REDACTED] to push this one through Rydon, just to see what the response is for now.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any queries.

I am advised that we cannot isolate the power supply at our new site at [REDACTED] from within the building or site, and we need to request for the provider to action.

Therefore, for example, we cannot 'black out' test the generator, as we can't turn off the power supply.

This sounds a strange set up, are either of you able to comment please

Ok will pick up with [REDACTED], however if there are remediations works, the 'cause' sits with the M&E consultant and main contractor, the EA (Chawton Hill) role does not design nor approve designs as fit-for-purpose.

Our first challenge must be to the M&E consultant Ridge and to Westridge (obviously now in liquidation) the EA/CHA can support us in the process and our contractual position.

HI [REDACTED],

Hope you had a good break?

EMB has asked us to meet with Chorlton Hill to discuss options for remedying various generator (and other) issues at [REDACTED]. [REDACTED], [REDACTED] and I met to discuss today (Friday). The context on this is a more constrained capital plan (than expected) next year, and a request from EMB to be clear on how we're prioritising the long list of schemes into a capital plan for 24/25. The generator at [REDACTED] has a CO and external power hookup issue which will be a priority to address, but how this is made good is the question we need to ask Chorlton Hill. In the next week or so.

[REDACTED] can make the necessary arrangements, but would you advise on who we ought to be meeting with please?

Best,

Hi [REDACTED],

It occurred to me, we should add whatever else you think we are missing for this generator whilst we are looking at it.

We did discuss remote monitoring of fuel levels in the day tank, fuel levels in the main tank (there is already a sensor, so probably just needs a second feed running?), generator faults and current status and setting up alerting from the monitoring tool.

We assume it is fully health checked now given the situation but if there is anything else you think we need to bring this one up to scratch, that would be handy.

Separately, we would also like you to quote for a [REDACTED] (appreciate there would be electrical costs from someone else [REDACTED]) and one of the IT kit (so we can compare costs). I know we have a [REDACTED] there already, it may be that is fine, but if we have other kit uncovered by it then we would want [REDACTED] to cover the lot.

Thanks

Hi [REDACTED],

We discussed the [REDACTED] generator and there was a potential issue surrounding the design of the switching?

Could you get someone out to quote for fixing this?

We'd also like to add to that getting an emergency connection point for a backup generator added, again with suitable switching so we don't encounter the issue we have at [REDACTED]?

[REDACTED] will look after this with you whilst I am away. But if you come back to me before the 1st, I can still help.

Hi

That is correct. We have requested FT to reattend. Will update when we hear more then they can establish the cause of the generator failure.

Rydons are able to turn the power back on, not FT. It is currently isolated to enable the site to run on generator only.

Thanks

Hi [REDACTED],

Thanks for providing the update.

- IT Connectivity – Site still have no internet connection and has not despite stable power for a while now [REDACTED] does anything else need resetting / looking into? Causing OTLs some issues given ipad usage for command is difficult.

I don't believe anyone is aware that there are still issues. I have logged an on-call ticket with the team to review and get back to you. They may ring on your mobile.

1630 update:

- Rydons are on site and I have spoken to him as the duty team raised some concerns rightly
- Rydons have put the site purely onto our Secamb generator which should ensure stability going forward – [REDACTED]
- Should UKPN have more outages or their generator fails then [REDACTED] should still function correctly
- IT Connectivity – Site still have no internet connection and has not despite stable power for a while now [REDACTED] does anything else need resetting / looking into? Causing OTLs some issues given ipad usage for command is difficult.
- As running purely on generator, [REDACTED] advised earlier that [REDACTED] but might be worth estates reviewing if they can remotely?
- Agreed to keep the teams chat open and add in the night staff as required to have one informal log alongside what the ladies are documenting on site – advised to Datix post incident to highlight any concerns and areas for improvement

Apologies for another email:

Power came back for a bit and has since gone out but this time set off the fire alarms and the internet connectivity which is now making the command function hard.

I have advised that if the OTLs are happy and comfortable to, to silence the fire alarm for their own sanity as likely to be an electrical fault and that for one of the 3 Commanders to relocate to [REDACTED] ACRP to utilise the PC there to allow effective command overview of the OU.

Critical systems are aware and looking into it – possibly a reset required but unsure.

Hi [REDACTED],

I spoke to [REDACTED] earlier today and we are looking for me to start my new role on Monday 2 October 2023, pending your agreement. I have started to pull together the outstanding items for [REDACTED] – see table below (still in draft).

	Responsible Lead(s)
Contract Variations / Extension of Time / Final Accounts	Estates ([REDACTED])
Accessibility Parking	Estates ([REDACTED])
Commissioning Plan	To be completed w/c 18 September 2023
Defects (formal process in place to raise concerns to WCL)	Estates Team
Rectification period – outstanding issues	Estates / Chawton Hill
BREEAM application/submission	Estates ([REDACTED]) / Chawton Hill
Generator concerns	Estates ([REDACTED]) and IT ([REDACTED])
Project Board / Ops Readiness / IT Subgroup	To be closed down post EOC go live – 19 September 2023 Last Project Board – 28 September 2023
Budget	To be finalised by Project Board 28 September 2023
Benefits Realisation	Ongoing – see Benefit Tracker for nominated leads
Lesson Learnt	To be gathered and reviewed by end of September 2023

Below is my current thinking of what will require some senior oversight for the Ops Portfolio (still in draft). We both acknowledge we need to do perhaps doing something different as we don't appear to be gaining traction in some areas so hopefully we can tease this out at tomorrow's Portfolio Board.

	Responsible Lead(s)
Policies and Procedures	[REDACTED]
Governance meetings (Portfolio Board, Steering Group)	[REDACTED]
Benefits Management	Portfolio Managers / Ops
Lessons Learnt	Portfolio Managers
Portfolio Timeline	Portfolio Managers
Task and Finish groups	[REDACTED] / [REDACTED] supported by Portfolio Managers

Recruitment

I have shared with you MLC Partners details as I think we need to explore a different approach to find someone to fill my post opposed to relying on the usual recruitment platforms. My secondment was due to come to an end in June 2024 so we could advertise for 6 months in the interim until funding is secured longer term. As discussed before you went on leave, I have attached the draft structure I think is needed going forward.

In relation to the Portfolio Manager, I will continue to interview suitable candidates for [REDACTED]'s replacement.

Can you confirm if you are happy for me to start my new role in 2nd October 2023 which will enable me to commence formal discussions with [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] relating to issues for [REDACTED] in particular?

If we are having to lift the existing generator up and move it about... and we need to install [REDACTED] that is [REDACTED] [REDACTED]r than the current situation.

If we choose to come back and install a 2nd generator later, this would be considerably more expensive than combining the process?

Hi [REDACTED],

Please find attached the quote for the [REDACTED] Remedial repairs as discussed on today's call.

Once you have had a chance to review, [REDACTED] and myself will be happy to jump on a call with you, 1400hrs 16/02/24, if suitable?

I'll send a meeting invite to you shortly.

Kind Regards

Hi [REDACTED],

Thanks for the email. SECamb [REDACTED] has been a hot topic on the engineering call this morning.

I'm afraid I must defer to whoever your warranty is with, the original installer. We have raised several issues regarding the generator power supply before this, please see attached report, and we will be doing some onsite testing today to help diagnose the issue and the points of demarcation.

I will come back to you later with some feedback on today's findings.

Hi [REDACTED],

As discussed I have just spoken with [REDACTED] at [REDACTED].

She has advised that they have lost partial power to site(phase L3)a few hours ago with the Generator failing to start.

This is affecting mainly the workshop(shutters/barriers and the building heating system.

However all IT equipment appears ok and they are still operational.

I offered to attend site advising that I'm approximately 2- 2.5 hours away to look at enabling the Generator and wait for power to return.

[REDACTED] advised that as she has been told that power will return between 10-11pm we are to stand down for now.

I have given her my contact details for he to call later this evening if our assistance is required.

Following on from this we will contact you tomorrow morning regarding attending to investigate why the Generator failed to start.

We are now making our way to the [REDACTED] site.

Hello [REDACTED],

Thank you for sending this though, I have a few questions.

- I know a lot of our generators are the same type, will these parts cover all generators or just some?
 - If some can you list the sites?
- Fuel injectors, how did you get to the number 8 as all the other parts are just 1 each?
 - is it because these are 8 different types that we use between our different generator models we have or they are a particularly unreliable part?

Hi [REDACTED]

I hope you are both well. Further to a conversation I have had with [REDACTED], please see attached quotation for the OEM Generator Spares for Secamb [REDACTED]. The cost for the proposed spares for this site is a lot more palatable than the quote for the [REDACTED] Generator Spares.

Depending on if you wish to proceed, I can confirm that Future-tech will only put our standard 12% management fee on the total.

Please let me know if you would like me to raise a quotation for these parts.

We'll need to have that conversation with Estates and Finance as IT have not previously had budget for generator testing as that has sat with Estates through Rydons (and their sub-contractor). If the proportionate Estates budget has been / is being transferred to IT then I'm sure we can find a way to fit this in.

Hi [REDACTED],

[REDACTED] has confirmed that additional costs for additional maintenance of the generator at [REDACTED] can not be capitalised so can these costs be absorbed within your revenue budget? If not, we may need to think about what we can do to build resilience which doesn't involve increasing maintenance checks.

This is my understanding.

We are going to get a quote to increase assessments of the generator to 4 per year from 2. As per [REDACTED]'s request.

If you can both reply to say you are happy as per our verbal conversations, then I believe next steps will be to take to project board to confirm that we can de-scope this from the project.

Any questions or concerns let me know.

Thanks [REDACTED] for the confirming the position on the generator i.e. we will proceed with the original plan to have one on site but we will look to have regular maintenance in the first year to provide additional resilience. There is an open risk on Datix (368) which we will propose to close at Project Board next week.

[REDACTED] – once you obtain the cost from FT to increase the number of maintenance/testing visits from 2 to 4 in the first year, please let [REDACTED] know so we can incorporate this within the budget.

A couple of suggestions

[REDACTED] where it could be stored on the grass area to the rear of the site where it will not be seen

[REDACTED] can be stored within the garage but we must ensure that it is completely clear of any oils, or diesel

Dear sirs,

You have recently completed a survey of our generators at a number of our Make Ready sites, appointed by Sunninghill.

We would like to engage your services direct to also produce a survey/ report on our recently designed and installed generator at our [REDACTED] site. Westridge Construction were our main contractor [REDACTED] we have some concerns about the design/ construction.

Happy to discuss further, look forward to hearing back from you in due course

Subject: [REDACTED] - generator

Hi [REDACTED],

We have identified [REDACTED] as a potential site for the generator. Is it possible to arrange a site visit to assess? Similar issues with regards to funding.

There is also a comms cupboard (quite literally a cupboard!) that would be worth you having a look at. It may be a candidate for one of the air conditioning units from [REDACTED]. It has two heating pipes running through the cupboard and was quite toasty when I went in there today combined with the classic hot electrical smell. It's currently 34c.

We have separately asked estates if there is any possibility of moving the pipes out, but my initial observations are that this will not be possible without significant and costly work which we will not have the funds left over to cover.

Thanks
